NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION

HISTORY OF THE DELAWARE VALLEY CHAPTER'S SCHOLAR-LEADER-ATHLETE AWARDS DINNER

The first Scholar/Athlete dinner hosted by the Delaware Valley chapter was a lot like a small family get-together as a group of prominent area business leaders and sportsmen, brought together by local sportswriter Jimmie McDowell gathered at The Carteret Club in downtown Trenton to honor a high school senior football player who had been even more successful in the classroom.

In 50 years that small gathering to honor Notre Dame High senior Pat Ryan has grown to become the most prestigious football dinner in the Delaware Valley, possibly in the entire Garden State.

No longer is it just one player being saluted and receiving a certificate. Now the Delaware Valley chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame honors graduating senior football players from 30 schools in six Central Jersey counties, each of them receiving at least a $1,000 scholarship with money raised from various businessmen and women throughout the area.

Just as the great game of football has grown over the last 50 years, so has the Delaware Valley chapter dinner, which awards a scholarship pot of $50,000 — largest in the nation. The chapter is also the oldest in the U.S. with an honor roll of Distinguished American and Contribution to Amateur Football award winners that is a 'Who's Who' of the football world.

Within five years after it was founded the DelVal chapter dinner had grown into a community-wide event that honored athletes from two dozen schools on both sides of the Delaware River and presented its coveted adult awards to political, civic and business leaders in the Trenton area.

Co-sponsored by the Trenton Times and later the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce, the Scholar/Athlete program grew from the cozy surroundings of the Carteret Club to venues like Barrett's El Condado Restaurant in Ewing, the Colonial Firehouse Ballroom in Hamilton and the West Trenton Ballroom Ewing to the Princeton University campus and eventually to the grand ballroom of the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Princeton.

The tradition of bestowing the Distinguished American Award on prominent area business leaders like Don Ehret, Times publisher James Kerney Jr. and Fred Schluter eventually saw political leaders Sen. Franny McManimon, Mercer County executive Bob Prunetti - a scholar/athlete at Trenton High in 1972 - Sen. Pete Inverso, former Hamilton mayor Maurice Perilli and New Jersey banking legends Bill Faherty, Tom Bracken and Tim Losch headline the top dias.

Educational leaders Dr. Crosby Copeland of the Trenton Public Schools and Al DeMartin of Hamilton, athletic leaders Ken Fairman, Royce Flippin, Jake McCandless and Bob Casciola of Princeton University, Coca Cola president Bill Pearce of Princeton, NJSIAA executives Roy Schleicher and Steve Timko and lifelong football men and prominent coaches Win Headley, Len Rivers and Cosmo Iacavazzi were among the honorees named Distinguished Americans for having taken the lessons learned on the gridiron to become prominent area leaders.

Baseball Hall of Fame sportswriter Harold 'Bus' Saidt of the Times, former NFL stars Troy Vincent (Eagles) and Scott Brunner (Giants), popular area radio sports broadcasters Vince Reed and Roger Hendler, the father-son tandem of Ron Rick and Ron Jr., and local coaching legends Dr. Ken Keufffel (Lawrenceville), Eric Hamilton (College of NJ), Steve Muench (Ewing), Sam Jefferis (South Hunterdon), John Curtis (Princeton) and Jim Griffin (Hightstown) helped add to the DelVal chapter's reputation for saluting the best of the best and continue the reputation the Delaware Valley chapter has always held for being the first - and the most successful - of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame chapters.

ROBERT F. CASCIOLA DISTINGUISHED AMERICAN AWARD ERIC HAMILTON

It would be easy to think that Eric Hamilton is being honored for his accomplishments as a coach, and he is. But he is much more than just a coach.

Since taking over at Trenton State College at the age of 23, which made him the youngest college head coach in the country, Hamilton has been equal parts pal, parent, and parish priest to literally generations of youngsters who have come to him with problems as wide-ranging as "how do I recognize the corner blitz" to "why won't that cute girl in English class go out with me". And Hamilton has guided them through both dilemmas with equal care and consideration, which is a big reason the players who come to him as kids leave as young men.

"Eric understands that there's more to coaching than just sending in the right play," the late George Wah once told a sportswriter. "Sure, he wants to win, but he wants to help his players get ready for life after graduation and football. He cares about the kids who play for him, not just as players but as people."

And "Coach Ham" remembers them all, from the first one to suit up in 1977 to the last one to turn in his equipment after the 2011 season. He can cite their strengths and weaknesses as players but would rather talk about their successes after football; the ones that make his chest swell with avuncular pride when he tells you that his former players are now doctors, attorneys, businessmen, educators, and even coaches.

Hamilton is also proud of, but not nearly as talkative about, the 211-138-6 record he has compiled, giving him the third most career wins among Division III coaches, or that during his 35 years on the sidelines he has led his alma mater to 21 winning seasons, eight conference championships and numerous post-season appearances. He's also reluctant to talk about being named Coach of the Year more times by more organizations than many of his predecessors, all of his contemporaries, and mostly anyone else who will walk the sidelines after him.

He will talk about the great work of the Delaware Valley Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, and conveniently fail to mention that he is the chapter president, or tell you that he is a recipient of the National Football Foundation's Leadership Award. And he certainly isn't going to let on that he is the only person to be both a high school (Bordentown) and college (Trenton State College) Student-Athlete, and the winner of both the Contribution to Amateur Football and Distinguished American awards. He will discuss what a great organization the 12th Man T.D. Club is, without telling you that he was one of the founders, and he can tell you to the penny how much the Mercer County Sunshine Foundation has received from the annual all-star game, but will be a little fuzzy about how much time and effort he has put in to making it the success is.

Most of all Hamilton will gladly talk about his family, his lovely bride Kitty, sons Matt, Jeff, Ryan, and Colin, and daughter Kaitlin, telling you that none of the accomplishments or the accolades mean anything without them. All of which makes him much more than just a coach.

CONTRIBUTION TO AMATEUR FOOTBALL PAUL "BONES" VICHROSKI

Paul "Bones" Vichroski has been on the sidelines for Lions football since 1964. He spent his first two years in uniform as a two-way starter at center and defensive tackle, and then 42 more as a coach.

Coach Bones graduated from Trenton Central High School in 1959 before serving in the United States Navy from 1960 - 1964. He arrived on campus – then titled Trenton State College – in the fall of 1964 where he played football for head coach Bob Salois for two seasons. Vichroski also competed in track and field during his tenure as a student-athlete at the College, specializing in the shot put, discus, and javelin events.

Vichroski re-joined the Lions football family in 1970 as an assistant coach under Salois. He also coached under Pete Carmichael, Dick Curl, and Carmen Ciccone before current head coach Eric Hamilton took over the program in 1977. (Hamilton was an All-American center for Trenton State and pupil of coach Bones.)

One of the most identifiable faces on campus and in football circles, Vichroski has preached football to over 2,000 student-athletes that have come through the Lions' football program. He has been a part of 230 of the 350 wins in the Lions' football 87-year history.

A signature moment Vichroski is known for following a hard-fought gridiron victory that connects the past Lion players to the present is engaging in the "gorilla" celebration (shown right). Coach Bones gathers all the players in a circle, stands in the middle of the pack, and pounds his chest as the team roars around him.

Born in Duryea, PA, Vichroski has been married to his wife Barbara for 46 years. He has three children, Jennifer, 43, Paul, 38, and Laura, 34. They are all married and he has six grandchildren, five of whom are boys.

ODDS FAVOR SUCCESS IN LIFE

Odds are heavily against any of the kids being honored at The Delaware Valley Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame's 50th Annual Scholar-Leader-Athlete Dinner making it in the NFL, just as they have been against every honoree every year.

And that's okay. Because those same odds are overwhelming in favor of them making it in life.

Which is much better.

All of the outstanding high school football players who have been honored since that first dinner in 1962, and there have been over a thousand, are the kind of athlete any coach loves to have on their team.

Just look over the list of past winners, and then think about the outstanding football players they beat out for the award.

But they are also the kind of student any teacher would love to have in their class and the kind of leader anyone associated with groups from the Boy Scouts of America to the Special Olympics want to have involved.

They've all had a trifecta of talent.

"People who excel at sports are special," Bob Prunetti said, "but people who excel at sports and in the classroom are rare. They have that unique combination of intelligence and poise and self-confidence that leads to success."

Prunetti is the perfect example. Now the president and CEO of the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce, he also served three terms as the Mercer County Executive. Before all of that, however, he was the Student-Athlete nominee from Trenton High in 1970, making him of only two scholastic Scholar-Athletes, along with Eric Hamilton, who was the Bordentown High nominee that same year, to also receive the Distinguished American Award.

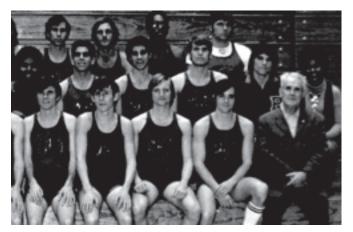

Neither did it alone however, and both will tell you that in addition to family and friends they also had help from their coaches, as did every other Scholar-Athlete nominee throughout the last 50 years; that men like the late Hank Johns of Pennsbury, for whom the Coach-of-the-Year Award is named, and Ken Keuffel, of Lawrenceville, did as much to shepherd their players along the road to success as anyone.

And there's been a lot of success.

There are enough doctors among the former Scholar-Athletes to open a clinic, enough attorneys to staff an entire law firm, and enough educators to man a small school. There also are businessmen, entrepreneurs, and coaches. All will insist that athletics was every bit as instrumental in helping them achieve success as academics, and that it was the combination that swayed the odds in their favor.

So, while it's a long shot that any of the scholar-athletes will be hitting paydirt on NFL fields on Sundays, it's a sure thing they will be making valuable contributions to life every other day of the week.

Bet on it. Tony Persichilli

SELECTION PROCESS

The name of the young man selected as the top Scholar-Leader-Athlete was not pulled out of a hat. He has gone through a rigorous screening process. His credentials on the field, in the classroom and in the community have been thoroughly scrutinized and discussed many times over by the members of the Delaware Valley Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame's Scholarship Committee. The scholarship committee is made up of several members of the Delaware Valley Chapter who have a deep and abiding respect and love for scholastic football.

What the scholarship committee is looking for is someone with:

1. Outstanding academic application and performance – a Scholar

He doesn't necessarily have to be the smartest student in his school, but he should be a good, solid student. He doesn't have to be a "book worm" or even a straight-A student, but he should be studious, persevering, dedicated and have a proper knowledge of what study means to the value of education. He should be a better than average student who is genuinely interested in his studies without a serious subject weakness.

2. Outstanding school leadership and citizenship – a Leader

He doesn't necessarily have to be involved in every club or program at his school, but he should have a well-rounded approach to his extracurricular activities. He doesn't have to be the president of his class, but he should be a leader, someone who is looked up to. He doesn't have to be the most popular student in his school, but he should be well-respected by his classmates, teammates and opponents.

3. Outstanding football ability and performance – an Athlete

He doesn't necessarily have to be the best football player in the area, be he should be a good one with a proven record of performance. Ideally, he should be a player who is more concerned with team accomplishments than his personal statistics. He should display courage, persistence and sportsmanship and an overall feeling for the game of football as well as have respect for his coaches, teammates and opponents.

It's the combination of all of these attributes that make the winner, and all the young men honored, a true Scholar-Leader-Athlete.

These young men have excelled for their football teams, in their studies and have demonstrated leadership qualities in their schools and their communities.

The winners are chosen among nominees from public and private schools in the Delaware Valley which encompasses Burlington, Hunterdon, Mercer, Monmouth and Somerset Counties in New Jersey. The athletes are nominated by their football coaches and hare the endorsement of their guidance counselors and principals.

These biographical sketches, because of space limitations, are brief and therefore do not cover all of the qualities of the individual nominees.

This year's group has outstanding classroom averages and each young man has an excellent opportunity to claim the top awards. Their achievements, on and off the field, make for interesting reading.

2011 SCHOLAR-LEADER-ATHLETES

DAVID DAKOTA BENISH FLORENCE

Character, Commitment, Courage. Those are the three words Coach Frappolli has established as the cornerstones of the Florence Flashes football program that always seems to be among the state's best at the Group I level. Luckily for the Flashes, those are the cornerstones of Dakota Benish.

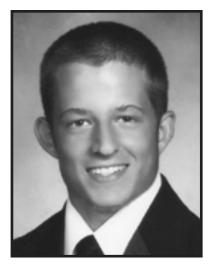

A lineman on both sides of the ball, as well as a kicker, Dakota was one of the reasons why the Flashes were able to win the Liberty Division in the West Jersey Football League. He also helped them advance to the Central Jersey Group 1 final. A three year starter for the Flashes, Benish was chosen as a first-team, all-conference kicker.

Outside of football, Dakota uses these same qualities he developed in the Flashes football program. He excels in the classroom and also as a volunteer. He spends time volunteering at the Masonic Home and at his local VFW. Somehow Dakota finds time to excel in the classroom while playing football and volunteering, taking several Advanced Placement classes.

"Dakota was elected as student council president at Florence Memorial High School and is well respected amongst his peers," Florence coach Joe Frappolli said. Along with student council president, Dakota was vice president as a junior and a member of the National Honor Society for his success in the classroom.

Student-athletes like Dakota Benish are why the Florence Flashes football program continues to have success and more often that not seems to find itself playing December football.

ADAM BODKIN ROBBINSVILLE

Robbinsville football coach Jason Gray could not say enough about Adam Bodkin. As a three-year starter for the Ravens, Bodkin played both wide receiver and defensive back.

"Adam Bodkin exemplifies the character, accountability, leadership, and drive that is sometimes lacking in today's generation," coach Gray said.

As a senior, Adam served as one of the team's captains. Bodkin was named to the second-team, all-division as a defensive back and was also the recipient of the scholar-athlete division award.

A player like Adam Bodkin makes coaching easier. Despite dislocating his knee cap as a junior, Adam worked hard to rehabilitate his knee and was able to come back for his senior season.

While Bodkin will never be physically the biggest player on the field, he makes up for it with enormous heart, emotion, and intelligence.

In the past three years, Adam has twice traveled to Ulyanovsk, Russia for a mission trip. He assisted in building churches and taught Russian kids how to throw a football, something they had never seen before.

The comparisons of football to life are seemingly endless, and the ability of Adam to excel and adapt in both life and football at such a young age will only aid Adam in his transition to college and beyond.

"I truly believe there is no challenge in the classroom, weight room, football field, or in society that Adam Bodkin cannot overcome," said Gray.

MATTHEW BONAVITA VOORHEES

Hidden somewhere in the laundry list of activities for Matthew Bonavita is football.

As a three-year varsity football player, Matthew played quarterback, wide receiver, and defensive back. Along with football, Matthew is a member of the basketball team and baseball team. He is a captain this year on the basketball team and is a four year varsity outfielder for the baseball squad.

"Matthew is the type of player every coach appreciates," Voorhees coach Mark Priebracha said. "His quality of character and high regard for academics and athletics allows him to shine both on the field and in the classroom."

During his high school years, there is no doubt that Matthew Bonavita has shined.

On the field he was an all-conference honorable mention for defense and off the field his list of accomplishments seems never ending. A member of the math league, science league, varsity club, and students for change club all throughout high school, he also was a peer mentor and student tutor.

Bonavita has been an honor roll student all four years of high school and member of the National Honor Society his last two years. He has also found time to volunteer at his church, work as a camp counselor and for the Hunterdon Outreach Program for the last three years.

Matthew Bonavita's competitive spirit and hard work in and out of the classroom exemplifies what it means to be a Delaware Valley Football Foundation award winner.

CHRISTOPHER BOYLE HIGHTSTOWN

Chris Boyle is a student who has excelled on the football field since the day he became a member of the Rams' football team.

What might be more impressive is the success he has found outside of the classroom. Chris has taken 10 honors classes during his time at Hightstown, and found himself on the honor roll each year. In addition, he has made the Principal's honor roll the last two years. He is member of the National Honor Society and the German Club.

In addition to his studies, Chris is a member of the youth church group, high school role model for the Hightstown Pop Warner football team, and a volunteer in the St. Anthony CYO basketball league.

A three-year varsity letter winner in football, Boyle was a first team all-CVC selection this past season and a team captain and an important piece of head coach Pete Brescia's rebuilding efforts.

"Christopher clearly demonstrated game knowledge, instincts, and desire to not only win but make the people around him better," Brescia said.

Chris' athletic skills weren't limited to just football. He is a four-year varsity wrestler, having served as team captain both his junior and senior seasons. He placed third in the Mercer County Tournament, received all-CVC honorable mention recognition, and was awarded the Iron Man Award, for having not missed one practice the entire season.

Chris Boyle is a model student-athlete, finding great success both on the field and in the classroom.

DAVID BRIDGES BORDENTOWN

As a second-team linebacker in the West Jersey Football League Liberty Division for the Bordentown Scotties, David exemplifies what it means to be a team player.

A two-year varsity player for both football and basketball, it is no surprise he is Bordentown's award recipient.

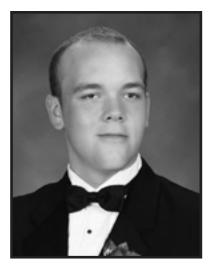

"David was asked by the coaches to change positions throughout the season and not only did he never complain about this, but he also excelled at many of those positions," Bordentown's coach Steve Perry said.

To go along with the several position changes he embraced throughout the season, David also found himself being a leader with his other players. His toughness and athletic ability only enhanced his ability when combined it with how coachable he is on the football field.

"David provides leadership to his teammates through both his actions and words," Perry said. "He helps to carry field equipment, helps his teammates with on-field assignments, picks up teammates who are down, and continually encourages and tutors the younger players."

Off the field, he is no different. David is a volunteer at his church, the youth leader of production, mentor, and part of the youth group at his church, while also volunteering at the Special Olympics.

David aspires to play football at the college level and his willingness to learn, adapt, work hard, and give back to the community will only help him as he moves on.

STEPHEN CLAYTON HAMILTON

Coach Tom Hoglen uses three words for the Hamilton West football program to live by: tradition, pride, and excellence.

It is because of student-athletes like Stephen Clayton that those values exist, and no coincidence the Hamilton West football program finds success year after year.

Stephen was a two-year varsity winner for the Hornets, and served as captain in 2011. In addition to football, Stephen is also captain of the golf team.

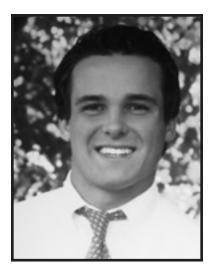

Aside from his athletics, Stephen has been a model student. An honor roll student throughout his high school career, Stephen is among the top of his class, taking "A" level classes and honors classes.

"Stephen's excellent grades, hard work and dedication, and impressive attendance reflect his ability and determination to succeed in future endeavors," coach Hoglen said.

Off the field, and outside of the classroom, Stephen has been just as instrumental. He helped lead the school beautification process, cleaning up the area around the school along with planting flowers. He has helped the athletic department in their fundraising for all sports and has supported walks to raise money for several awareness programs. Stephen is a member of Relay for Life and Walk for Autism.

"Stephen's excellent grades, hard work and dedication, and impressive attendance reflect his ability and determination to succeed in future endeavors," Hoglen said.

Sometimes the hardest thing for someone is to continue to show up, and Stephen Clayton has proven to his coach and team, he will always show up.

DAVID DUDECK III THE HUN SCHOOL

The list of the awards Dave Dudeck has won could fill up nearly an entire page in itself.

An accomplished football player at Hun, David is perhaps more accomplished in the classroom. The Star Ledger Prep Player of the Year, David has been a four-year starter for both football and baseball.

"I have been coaching high school football for over t20 years and I must say that David is one of the most athletic football players that I have ever coached," Hun defensive coordinator John Law said.

David has been a two-year captain for Hun and four-year starter, earning first-team Mid-Atlantic Prep League honors on both offense and defense. He was also a member of the state's all-prep team the last two seasons. Outside of football, David has been an honor student each year in high school. He is a member of Ryan's Quest Foundation, and a camp counselor when not in school. In addition, he is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

"What makes David so successful is his work ethic," said Coach Law. "He utilizes these gifts to achieve a very high level of success on the football field and in the classroom. He is a fierce competitor with a passion that fuels the fire inside him."

David is a student that is as well rounded as they come. He makes the job of a coach easier and more enjoyable.

"David's character will represent the mission of the Chapter with great pride and honor," coach Law said.

CHRIS EVANS WW-P SOUTH

Well rounded only begins to describe a student like Chris Evans.

Chris was a three-year varsity football player for the Pirates, collecting several awards, including all-South Jersey Group IV, and first team all-county. Also a team captain, Chris is one of the rare quarterbacks that is permitted by his coach to play defense as well. Making the all-county team as a defensive back only shows why that was an easy decision.

Chris' success does not end on the football, however. Chris has been a varsity basketball player for three years as well, earning the starting point guard position for the past two, while serving as team captain.

"Even with all of Chris's achievements on the gridiron, they pale in comparison to what he has done in the classroom," coach Todd Smith said. "His commitment to education sets him apart from many of his peers."

Chris has been playing the piano since he was two years old, the guitar for five years, and also has an endless list of volunteer work. Chris led a food drive for the local food pantry, volunteered for Relay for Life as well as the "Read Across America" program, and was a member of the PEER leadership program in his school.

"His athletic ability and knowledge of the game allow him to stand out during a game, but it is his character that will allow him to stand out in life," Smith said. "Chris is exactly what this award is all about."

CHRIS FENNELL DELAWARE VALLEY

Chris Fennell is one of those athletes that every other player on the team wants to emulate. The sophomores new to varsity look up to him, and his fellow upperclassmen try to keep up with him.

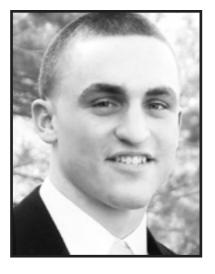

A three year varsity player, Chris has been named to the all-conference, all-division, and all-area first team in each of the last three seasons. He has been the team captain the last two seasons. Thanks to players like Fennell, the Terriers have enjoyed tremendous success in recent years -9-2 in 2011 and 17-4 over the past two years.

In addition to football, Chris is an accomplished lacrosse player and varsity basketball player. He has twice been named to the first team all-conference, all-division, and all-area in lacrosse and has been the team's captain the last two seasons.

A natural leader, Chris also has found time to volunteer for week-long summer mission trips up and down the East Coast to help rebuild impoverished areas. Additionally, Fennell gives his time to help his church's youth group. Chris is also a volunteer coach for a local youth lacrosse club.

In school he is a member of the Student Council, the Varsity Club, and the Best Buddies program, which is a program that helps special education students adapt to a school environment.

Chris has been appointed by Congressman Leonard Lance for the United States Naval Academy and has been accepted to the United States Naval Prep Academy.

RYAN GERMANO NOTRE DAME

"Joe Ehrmann once wrote that it takes about 10 years to tell if you have had a small part in what kind of person your player will become," associate head football coach John McKenna said. "There is no doubt that Ryan will become a great person, a great husband, a wonderful father, and because of people like Ryan Germano there is hope for this world."

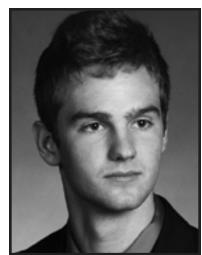

Ryan was a three-year varsity award winner for both the football team and basketball team. A two-year starter on the defense for the Irish, he was named to the first-team, all-Capitol Division squad and also received first-team honors from the Trentonian and the Times of Trenton.

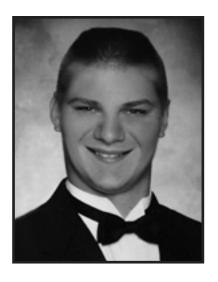

More impressively is Germano's ability to be a leader off the field. He has been on the Honor Roll his entire time at Notre Dame and is a leader in the Foundation of Life program.

Ryan is a volunteer for the Special Olympics in his hometown of Monroe, gives his time to the Mercer Street Friends Food Bank, tutors other high school students, and volunteers at his church.

"It has been through this mental toughness, this resolve never to quit, which has made him a true leader," guidance counselor Chris Collier said. "Ryan has not been the chest-beating, self-promoting, boisterously bleating player who has led through his mouth. Rather, Ryan Germano has led through the force of his actions and his unwavering commitment to excellence."

BILLY HATTON HUNTERDON CENTRAL

In most years, you will find Hunterdon Central playing playoff football. Players like Billy Hatton are the reason why.

Hatton, a two-year varsity player for Coach Matt Perotti, led his team to the playoffs this past season. A first-team all-county player the past two seasons, two-year, all-conference player, and a first-team all-West Jersey player this past year, the awards have certainly piled up for this young man. Despite the awards and achievements, Hatton has always deferred praise and given credit to his teammates.

"Billy consistently works for ideals that are 'bigger than self'," coach Perotti said.

Billy Hatton's work does not stop on the gridiron though. In the classroom he has found himself on the Principal's honor roll every semester, and is a member of both the National Honor Society, as well as the Spanish Honor Society. He was a key component in the founding of a program to assist mentally disabled children learn the game of football and even volunteered with the basketball team with their program.

"Billy is a steadfast and determined leader, and has built both his mind and body with an incredible vigor," Perotti said.

The combination of his success in the classroom, on the football field, and in the community outside of school make Billy Hatton unique.

"(Billy) Hatton," Perotti said, "is a young man I am extremely proud to have as a member of our team.

ANDREW JONES MONTGOMERY

Andrew Jones isn't like every other football player.

A two-year varsity player, he spent his junior year on the defensive line and a moved over to right guard as a senior. More notably, Andrew is also a fan of music. He has played the drums for six years and is a member of the high school's wind ensemble.

"Andrew is an extremely accomplished young man on the athletic field as well as in the classroom," coach Zoran Milich said.

When he's not busy leading the offensive line, or partaking in the wind ensemble, Andrew is usually doing some type of community work.

Each spring he volunteers for the Challenger Little League baseball program, and he also participates in a walk raising money for autism. During the past two summers, Andrew can be found volunteering in a special needs classroom during the school district's extended school year program.

"Drew Jones is a young man who has great values and priorities," coach Milich said. "No one works harder than Drew, on or off the field."

Andrew is both a member of the National Honor Society and a graduate of American Legion Boys State. He was awarded the Iron Cougar Award by his coaching staff for perfect attendance during the team's summer lifting program.

"Drew is a great person both in and out of the classroom," his teacher, Christine D'Amore said. "This thoughtful, intelligent young man has a future full of promise."

J. WALKER KIRBY JR. THE LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL

NICK GUSZ SCHOLAR-LEADER-ATHLETE

"As a teacher and coach at The Lawrenceville School for 30 years, I have had the opportunity to interact with many extraordinary student-athlete-leaders," coach Ken Mills said. "Of all the students with whom I have ever worked, no student has possessed those qualities to same high degree as Walker Kirby."

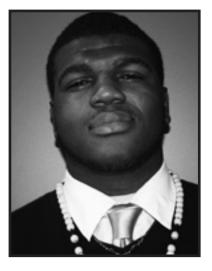

Walker is a four-year varsity football player and lacrosse player for the Big Red of Lawrenceville. In both sports, he has earned first-team Mid-Atlantic Prep League honors for two years and serves as team captain for both squads. In lacrosse last year, he was named first-team, all-state and also received all-America recognition.

Not unlike other Lawrenceville students, Walker's classroom resume is one of the best. He has been a member of the community soup kitchen, while also traveling to both Brazil and Peru. Walker used a stipend he received from the Semans' Family Merit Scholarship Award and traveled to Brazil to help the locals recover from devastating floods. In Peru, he helped build adobe sheds for communities without electricity.

This past season was Walker's first at quarterback. He switched from running back in order to make the team stronger. He never questioned what his coaches saw for the best interest of the team. It is the selflessness and leadership that makes people like Walker Kirby special football players, and more importantly, special students.

"Walker is simply the best student-leader-athlete with whom I have interacted. Ever," coach Mills said.

RICHARD LEVY

At 6-foot-7, Richard Levy is an easy person to spot from far away.

What is not easy to see from a distance is his caring personality and easy going approach to life. Richard was a team captain for the Tornadoes this past season and earned his third varsity letter as a starter on both the offense and defensive line. A volunteer at the local soup kitchen, and a student of music, he can play the drums, guitar, and piano. There is nothing not to like about this young man.

"During the time that I have known Richard he has been everything that a coach wishes for in a football player," Trenton coach Ralphiel Mack said. "Richard exemplifies everything that is good and positive in a great football program."

Richard also volunteers as a member of the Boys and Girls Club, the Brothers of West Campus, is a member of the Garden Club, and is on the senior committee. Most impressively, Richard is a member of the National Honor Society, a four-year member of the honor roll and ranked near the top of his class, all while still finding time to make the varsity wrestling team his first year participating and playing football.

Richard was first-team, all-county the past two seasons, and first-team, all-conference last year.

"Richard epitomizes a scholar athlete," vice principal Lawrence Parker said. "He has been blessed with tremendous gifts and humility to keep him grounded and focused."

JAMES LINDBERG THE PEDDIE SCHOOL

Peddie won more games in 2011 than it had won in the previous three years combined. Having players like Jimmy Lindberg were a major reason for their success.

Jimmy was an honorable mention selection to the Mid-Atlantic Prep League squad this past season and has been a varsity starter for Peddie the last two seasons.

"Every team has or would want to have at least one player like Jimmy," head coach Frank deLaurentis said. "I wish we had 30 like him. He is such a high energy player. He is always playing at full speed. From the minute he hits the field, he is in high gear."

In addition to football Jimmy has been a two-year varsity basketball player and a member of the chorus for the last 12 years, and is the Vice President of the student body.

Lindberg is the President of the Gold Key Society at Peddie and received the Thomas C. Britton '38 scholarship fund award. He's a Peddie on-campus orientation leader and finished third in the Reeves Speaking Contest and volunteered as a coach in the Cranbury summer basketball league.

COLIN MACRI NORTH HUNTERDON

Playing the quarterback position means accepting a lot of responsibility.

That means North Hunterdon had the right person behind center in Colin Macri. The starting quarterback the last three seasons for the Lions of North Hunterdon, he has broken every passing record in the school's history. Colin was voted team captain this past year, after being honored 2nd team all-state as a junior.

"Colin handled the additional responsibility of captain by not only becoming more vocal in his relationships with the team, but by becoming even more visible in his consistently outstanding play," coach John Mattes said. "He is a leader through his consistent positive attitude and his steady work ethic."

Aside from being a three-year starting quarterback, Colin has also found time to excel in the classroom.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, the National Spanish Honor Society, and the Academic Achievement Society. He also finds time to volunteer for the Special Olypmics of New Jersey, Relay for Life, and as a Student Ambassador. Colin also volunteered with the Arc of Hunterdon, assisting disabled adults play basketball.

The school winner for the Wendy's Junior Heisman award, Colin was recognized with the MVP Superintendent's award as well.

"His genuine concern for the welfare of others, his respect for all kinds of people, and his vitality and exuberance make him a true leader and role model for other students," Principal Michael Hughes said.

RAYMOND MASTROIANNI BRIDGEWATER-RARITAN

The all-time, single-season passing leader in Bridgewater-Raritan history, Raymond Mastroianni leaves behind a much bigger legacy at BRHS.

"As an athlete, Raymond is is one of the most dedicated, hardworking, and self-motivated players I have ever coached," head coach Scott Bray said. "Over his four years, he has matured both as an athlete and individual. He brings with him a genuine desire not only to play the game, but also to be the best at what he does. We look for Raymond to continue his success at the next level."

A two-year National Honor Society member, Mastroianni puts together an accomplished resume in all areas.

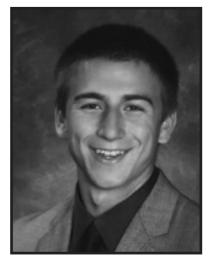

While he is quite accomplished on the gridiron, Mastroianni has been recognized nationally as an elite lacrosse player and will be attending Lehigh University next year.

Academically, he is a high honor roll student with a challenging course load that includes a pair of Advanced Placement courses as well as Honors Calculus.

Additionally, Raymond is active in the community. He participates in the United Way Gifts of the Season program. Mastroianni also volunteers for the Special Olympics and tutors Bridgewater-Raritan students in Physics, Spanish, and Calculus.

"Raymond approaches everything in life with an open mind and a positive attitude," English teacher Keith Shapiro said. "He is a warm and sociable person who is willing to take a chance and befriend those who are strangers. It is my honest opinion that Raymond's great attitude positively affects those around him.

ALEX MITKO PRINCETON

Alex Mitko is the definition of student-athlete.

A quarterback for the Princeton High School football team the last two seasons, he is a three-year varsity player who also doubled as a defensive back, where he led the team in tackles for two years. In the first game of his senior season, Alex broke his thumb so he switched to running back in order to keep playing. He returned to quarterback for the final four games of the year. Alex showed his leadership in every possible facet.

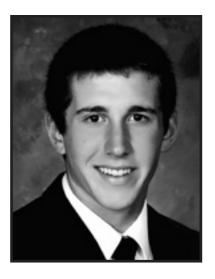

"Alex meant more as a leader than his stats," coach Joe Gargione said. "He played each game with an unbelievable amount of emotion. Alex was one of our captains and was the heart and soul of our team."

As a junior, Alex was voted as the team's most valuable player and a co-MVP this past season. Alex is a center fielder for the baseball team and has been involved in gymnastics the past three years.

More impressively though, is what Alex has been able to achieve off the football field. He is interested in computer music, and took a summer course at Brown University on Computer Music Production. As an advocate for Student Health Force, he wrote a song and won a national contest for a music competition and subsequently co-wrote and professionally recorded a song for the national program.

"Alex is the type of kid that, if cloned, would put a lot of teachers out of work," coach Gargione said.

MATT PAGANO HOPEWELL VALLEY

A three-year starter on both sides of the football, Matt Pagano holds the single-game, single-season, and career rushing record for the Bulldogs.

Pagano's senior season saw him amass over 1700 all-purpose yards. He was named first-team WJFL Colonial Division at free safety as a junior and earned the same honor at running back as a senior. He was also named team MVP and second-team all-Mercer running back this year.

In addition to football, Matt has been a three-year starter for the Bulldogs' lacrosse team.

"As an athlete, Matt's competitive spirit and dedication to the sport was unequaled by his peers," head coach Dave Caldwell said. "Matt worked tirelessly in the off-season, always looking to maximize his potential. Matt concluded his senior year as Hopewell Valley's first-ever 1,000 yard rusher and our program's all-time leading rusher and kick returner."

While Matt has worked tirelessly to excel on the field, he's worked just as hard off the field for the benefit of others. Matt has volunteered for the Special Olympic of New Jersey Summer Games, Pennington Day, and he is also a certified Red Cross life guard.

Pagano is also an active member of SMAC (Student Movement Against Cancer) and a member of the National Honor Society.

"His time management skills and strong work ethic enable him to maintain a high GPA and consistently perform to his best on the playing fields," coach Caldwell said. "Due to Matt's strong character he was highly respected by his peers."

PHIL PECORA THE PENNINGTON SCHOOL

Annually one of the better small school programs around, Pennington has been able to maintain its status because of its ability to bring in students like Phil Pecora.

Phil is one of those students who stands out when you meet him. While he only spent two years at Pennington, he immediately became a leader among his peers and incredibly valuable to head coach Jerry Eure whose team suffered major graduation losses heading into 2011.

"His presence was immediately felt both in the classroom and on the football field," Eure said. "Phil is a natural born leader and the best way to describe him is reliable, hard working, committed, and above all, a great person. When you combine these qualities, you get a great student-athlete."

Phil has been a member of the dean's list for the last three years and a member of the National Honor Society. The last four years, Phil has volunteered for the special needs

Princeton little league. As a senior this past season, Phil was named to the Newark Star Ledger first-team Prep defense and Trenton Times all-Prep, first-team offense. Phil also has been a member of the varsity baseball team and was named a Star Ledger all-Prep player there as well.

"Phil's loyalty, coachability, and continual effort to improve epitomizes what a coaching staff is looking for in a player," Eure said. "This is why he was unanimously voted captain of the team this year."

STEPHEN PEMBERTON WW-P NORTH

It comes as no surprise that West Windsor North's head coach Chris Casamento said, "Stephen was often the lead blocker in our run game." Why should the football field be different than anywhere else?

Stephen Pemberton has established himself as a leader in the running game, on the football field, and both in and out of the classroom. A starting guard and a starting nose tackle on the defensive side of the ball; Stephen was a two year varsity letter winner and served as weekly captain for the Knights twice.

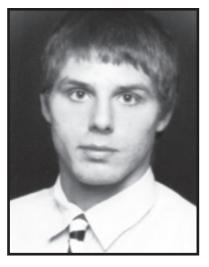

He also is a member of the varsity wrestling team and has shown tremendous skill and leadership in the weight room. Stephen holds one of the top three bench press records at West Windsor North.

Off the field, Stephen is a well-rounded individual. He is a volunteer for the Special Olympics and summer SUCCESS program at Community Middle School. He plays the bass guitar and is the lead singer in his self-organized band.

His leadership skills and willingness to help others, whether at the Special Olympics, in the weight room, on the football field, or in his band can all be attributed to his early acceptance to Rutgers University.

"He takes pride in his work, he values his relationships with teachers, and he is a committed and collaborative athlete who has consistently demonstrated leadership on the football field and beyond," guidance counselor Laura Foster said.

JOSEPH PUZA NEW EGYPT

It won't be easy for New Egypt coach Luke Sinkhorn to reaplce Joe Puza. And it won't be just because of his success on the football field his last three seasons on the varsity squad.

"Joe is honest, hard working, trustworthy, and leads by example," guidance counselor Katina George said.

His head coach, Luke Sinkhorn added, "On the field, Joe continually impresses his coaches with his selflessness, leadership, and sacrifice."

What more could you ask for from a leader and team captain? Joe was a three-year starter for the football team and four-year starter for the lacrosse team, and earned his role as captain for both sports. The football team is 15-6 the last two years, the best back-to-back seasons in school history.

Joe also has a number of other activities. He has earned his name on the honor roll every single semester of high school, is a member of the National Honor Society, Future Business Leaders of America, and Relay for Life.

Last season, he was awarded the Unsung Hero Award, and received 2nd team all-conference. His biggest award could come soon, as he is hoping to be accepted into the United States Naval Academy.

"Joe deserves any accolades, awards, and successes that come his way," Sinkorn said. "More importantly, he will continue to strive to attain success in the future as well. He has been a humble leader within our school community for four years."

MATTHEW RAFFERTY NORTHERN BURLINGTON

"It is not often a Matt Rafferty graces the halls of a Northern Burlington," principal Craig Wigley said.

A three-year honor roll recipient ranking in the top 25 percent of his class, it goes without saying that Matt's skills do not lie just on the football field. A three-year varsity letter winner in both football and track, Matt is someone every parent would be proud of. Matt is also a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, a Relay for Life captain, a peer leader, and youth member at his church.

On the field, Matt was an all-league player on offense as a junior and an all-league player on defense as a senior for a team that won eight straight games and finished 9-2.

A first-team, all-county defensive end in 2011, Matt was also a first-team, all-academic offensive player. As a junior, he was awarded the Iron-Hound award, which goes to the hardest working player on the varsity team.

His hard work and leadership went a long way in the success of the Greyhounds this past season as they finished with their best record under Coach Jon Reising.

"Matthew is a true gentleman of the game," Reising said. "Matthew is a dedicated, hardworking, and determined young man."

With more men like Matthew Rafferty suiting up for the Greyhounds, it is not inconceivable to think their turnaround will continue.

"Matthew Rafferty is an outstanding young man and has a bright future in front of him," said Reising.

TROY SCALES NOTTINGHAM

As someone who is working towards achieving Eagle Scout status, it comes as no surprise that Troy Scales has been an outstanding safety for the Northstars.

Troy is an active member of the community and member of the Boy Scouts of America. In addition to playing football, he was a member of the state champion track team his junior year. As a four-year player and member of the boy scouts, Troy has developed an ability to be a leader amongst his peers.

"This young man's proven academic ability and leadership skills leave me no doubt that he will be successful," his guidance counselor Jon Schwartz said.

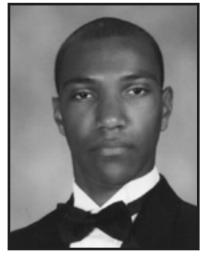

Coach Jon Adams' added, "As a Leader, Troy really worked hard throughout his four years. He is a true role model for our younger players."

Troy is also very talented in music. He has been the school's drum major, a four-year member of the school's marching unit, jazz band, and concert band. He has also been in the school's pit band.

Troy has found his name on the school's Academic Honor Roll throughout his entire time at Nottingham High School. He is also a two year member of the school's National Honor Society chapter.

"Troy is an intelligent, mature, promising young man," coach Adams said. "He is accomplished but humble. I have seen this young man mature physically and emotionally. He is a young man who can be counted on to give his best effort in all situations."

"Jimmy is a doer," director of counseling Leigh Wood said. "Not the best football or basketball player at Peddie, but hands down the gutsiest. In many ways, he's a playground athlete: scrappy, feisty, and the one to show up with bats and balls and egg everyone on. He simply wants to play. And Jimmy instinctively knows how to make that happen – persistence."

JUSTIN SCOTT LAWRENCE

Where to start with Justin Scott?

Justin is a three sport varsity athlete. As a football player, Justin has been a varsity letter winner each of the last three years as both a punter and kicker. This past season, Justin was a first-team punter for the West Jersey Coaches all-star team, averaging over 35 yards per punt.

In addition to football, Justin is in his fourth year as a member of the varsity wrestling team, and is also a two-year varsity member of the track and field team. He placed second in the Mercer County wrestling tournament in 2011 and was an all-county honorable mention.

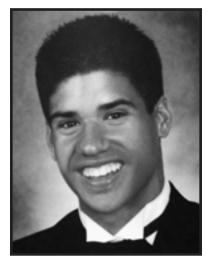

Outside of sports, Justin has been playing the clarinet for nine years. He is a first clarinet for his school's jazz band. He is a member of the National Honor Scoeity, the Classical Latin Honor Society, the Tri-M Music Honor Society, and has been published in Aspirations, a Mercer County College publication.

"Character, outstanding work ethic, strong values, compassionate, committed, respectful toward others, are all just a few of the traits Justin possesses," coach Rob Radice said.

Ranking in the top one percent of his class, Justin hopes to study Biomedical Engineering when he moves onto college next year.

"Justin is the consummate student-athlete who makes coaching a pleasure," Radice said. "He is well respected and liked by his coaches, teachers and his peers. He makes the people around him work harder and is a true leader."

RYAN TEDESCO ALLENTOWN

Two-year varsity starter, team captain his senior season, and first-team, all-conference at wide receiver.

Not a bad resume for someone who has played football for all of two years. Not to mention, a major reason why Allentown has completely turned its program around in that span, qualifying for its first-ever NJSIAA playoffs.

"As an athlete, Ryan Tedesco is the reason why one gets into the coaching profession," coach Jay Graber said. "He has a positive attitude and is relentless in his pursuit for success. He is extremely coachable and will do whatever it takes for the betterment of the team."

In the classroom, Ryan has received numerous school awards and has been a member of the National Honor Society the last two years. He has competed in a public speaking competition where he placed fourth, and in a student television network competition in Los Angeles.

Additionally, Ryan is a member of the Multicultural Club, Volunteer Club, and Broadcast Club. He is also a volunteer for the Long Branch Special Olympics, volunteer at the "Beach Sweep in Belmar," and a volunteer teacher at St. Joseph's Parish CCD for the last three years.

"He came from a different school every day to attend practice and immediately demanded respect from his peers," coach Graber said. "He showed great leadership and was one of the main reasons our program has turned in two consecutive successful years. He has great character and possesses nothing but positive qualities."

JOHN VON NESSEN HILLSBOROUGH

Coach Kevin Carty may have had only season as his head coach, but it didn't take anywhere near that long to learn what John Von Nessen is all about.

A three-year starter at quarterback for the Raiders, John was named to the first-team, all-Somerset County and third-team, all-Group IV squad as a quarterback, as well as the third-team, all-county as a punter. He finished his career as Hillsborough's all-time leader in passing yards.

"John displayed his ability to learn quickly, lead his teammates, and perform with talent and toughness as he spearheaded the transition to a new coaching staff and offensive system," coach Kevin Carty said. "John flourished in this challenging situation, taking our team to the playoffs for the first time in six years."

Off the football field, John has done various volunteer work, giving his time to the Hillsborough food bank and the Hillsborough special education extended school program.

He is a former local winner of the Pepsi Punt, Pass, and Kick competition, and a former recipient of a Pop Warner national all-American scholar award.

In addition to football, John is a four-year varsity lacrosse player, earning many other accolades. His hard work in both football and lacrosse will be very useful when he attends Penn State University next year.

"John is a hard, independent worker who sees things through to completion," his lacrosse coach Mark Wilson added. "He is a mentally tough young man with a great personality and effective leadership skills."

MAX WHITAKER SOUTH HUNTERDON

South Hunterdon High School is full of tough kids. That's how it has always been. This year is no different, and Max Whitaker was the leader of the South Hunterdon football team.

An all-conference player the last two seasons, and an all-county player this past season on the defensive side of the ball, Max was an integral part of Coach Toby Jefferis' team winning its most games since the 2003 season. Back then, the Eagles were coached by Jefferis' legendary father, Sam.

In addition to football, Max is a four year varsity basketball player, having racked up numerous awards. An all-state player his junior year, along with all-county and all-conference player the last two seasons, Max has excelled throughout his time at South Hunterdon as the Eagles have become one of the top Group I basketball schools around.

"Max is a product of a loving family who instilled sound values, especially the importance of hard work and serving others," principal Mark Collins said.

As the smallest public school in the state of New Jersey, South Hunterdon High School in itself can be viewed as a family. As a standout in a small school, Max also has a major role in the Future Business Leaders of America program at South Hunterdon.

"He has the respect and admiration of his peers and adults alike for his genuine goodness and kind spirit," Collins said. "He is viewed by teammates as an inspiration and role model."

JOSEPH WINTERS EWING

A playoff team in 2010, Ewing had the challenge of overcoming the loss of its star quarterback to injury early in 2011. Head coach John Bamber relied on leaders like Joseph Winters to pull through it.

While the end result wasn't what the Blue Devils had hoped for in terms of wins and losses, the effect Winters had on the program has Ewing headed in the right direction.

"Competition was always fierce at his position," said Bamber about the defensive back. "It was always apparent that Joseph's main focus was what he could do for the team. Starting on Friday night or not, Joseph was ready to go and give his all for the team."

A three-sport athlete, Winters is involved in both the winter and spring track seasons for Ewing's very competitive programs. He does well academically and keeps a GPA above 3.0.

"No matter what the situation may be Joseph is always present and ready to go," Bamber said. "This is a great characteristic that we always look for in successful people."

These are things that equate to great leadership regardless of wins and losses. Bamber is confident that Winters will be a success in whatever path he chooses because of his attitude.

"I expect Joseph to be a strong family man and professional success with his self-motivation and dependability. We can always depend on Joseph Winters leading his peers in uplifting and positive directions."

TYLER ZANDOMENEGO STEINERT

A two-way player for the Spartans, and three-year varsity letter winner, Tyler is Steinert's scholar-athlete.

Tyler played running back and safety this past year, leading them to the Central Jersey Group III sectional championship game. Tyler was awarded second-team all-division this past season, a testament to his hard work throughout his time at Steinert.

"For all Tyler's hard work on the field and in the weight room, he worked even harder in the classroom," Steinert coach Dan Caruso said. "He maintained very high marks throughout his high school career while carrying many top courses at Steinert High School."

Tyler has won the Outstanding Academic Award three time and has been named to the honor roll each year of high school. The last two years, Tyler has been a member of the school's National Honor Society. He is also a PEER Leader, volunteer at the Trenton Soup Kitchen, Vision in Student Athlete Member, and a member of the Ski Club.

Tyler is the model of a team player. Last season, when the quarterback was injured, he switched from running back to quarterback to help the team.

"His dedication to extracurricular activities, as well as maintaining high academics, distinguishes Tyler as an outstanding individual," said Caruso.

Players like Tyler Zandomenego are the reason why Steinert found itself in the sectional championship this year and the work ethic he passed on to younger players will allow the program to continue its success.

JUDGE ARTHUR LANE SCHOLAR-LEADER-ATHLETE

This year's Scholar-Leader-Athlete from Princeton University is Ivan Charbonneau. The three-year letterwinner from Kansas City, Kansas excelled on special teams and at cornerback for the Tigers.

Ivan's career at Princeton ended in grand fashion, as he was selected to receive the Class of 1952 Award as the team's best special teams player. He returned a kickoff against Lehigh for a 92-yard touchdown, while also earning a spot in the starting lineup at cornerback. Ivan recorded 24 tackles and two pass breakups last fall, picking up a career-high six tackles against Bucknell and an interception at Harvard.

As a junior, Ivan continued to be the top special teams player at Princeton. He recorded six tackles, including two apiece against Lafayette and Penn, and returned 15 kickoffs for 278 yards for the season. His season long was 28 yards against Lehigh, when he picked up 109 return yards. Ivan's sophomore season at Princeton saw him pick up his first Class of 1952 Award when he led the team with 17.4-yard average on 16 kickoff returns. His season-best effort was 28 yards against Harvard. Against Dartmouth, Ivan had 5 tackles and forced a fumble on special teams.

At Rockhurst Jesuit High School, Ivan earned all-state and all-metro honors as a safety. He was a three-time letterwinner and recorded 204 career tackles, including 104 as a senior to go along with six interceptions and four sacks. Behind Ivan, Rockhurst won the 2007 6A state football championship with a 13-0 record. He also lettered four years in track and placed eighth in the state 100-meter finals (10.74)

The son of Robert and Marcia Charbonneau, Ivan has three older brothers, Stephen, Beau and Colin, and an older sister Nicke Kobza.

EARL H. DEAN SCHOLAR-LEADER-ATHLETE

Jay Donoghue (Shamong, NJ/Seneca) was the starting quarterback for The College of New Jersey football team for the past two seasons. In 2011, the senior co-captain had a tremendous year, leading the Lions to a 7-3 overall record.

Donoghue will graduate with a degree in History and Secondary Education. A member of the Dean's List and a TCNJ Scholar-Athlete, he owns a cumulative average of 3.52 and posted a 3.89 grade point average this past fall semester.

A 6' 3" quarterback, Donoghue completed 175-of-278 passes for 1,637 yards and eight touchdowns. He also rushed for 487 yards and seven TD scores. Donoghue ranked third in the New Jersey Athletic Conference in total offense by averaging 216 yards from scrimmage per game. He was selected to the All-NJAC honorable mention team.

Donoghue set a school record in 2011, completing 28 passes in a 26-17 win over The College at Brockport. He tossed three touchdowns passes in a 47-10 win over Western Connecticut State University, and also ran for over 100 yards twice during the season. He gained 126 yards in a 49-21 win over FDU-Florham and ran for 102 yards in the win over Western Connecticut.

For his career, Donoghue generated over 3,200 yards of offense. He completed 15 touchdown passes and rushed for nine TD scores.

Following the 2011 season, Donoghue was selected by the Brooks-Irvine Memorial Football Club of South Jersey as their Division III Player of the Year. The organization, which was established in 1945, was founded in honor of former athletic directors Philip R. Brooks and Howard T. Irvine and strives to promote the purposes of and provide incentives for scholarship, sportsmanship, fair play and positive working relationships between coaches and officials that are as important today as they were in 1945. He is just the second Lions' player to receive this honor.

The son of Jim and Kathy Donoghue, Jay has completed charity work at the Trenton Soup Kitchen and Special Olympics. His father Jim was a quarterback at Syracuse University and his Uncle Bill was a wide receiver at TCNJ.

DELAWARE VALLEY LITTLE SCHOLAR KYLE LIEDTKA, HAMILTON POP WARNER

Kyle Liedtka's football career is just getting started. But the Crockett Middle School 3-sport athlete and scholar has already made his mark as an up-and-coming future football star. Kyle is this year's Delaware Valley chapter Little Scholar, becoming the latest in a growing list of young football stars who have excelled on the field, but even more in the classroom.

Kyle is already a 3-time All-American, having been named the National Pop Warner Football Little Scholar for the third year in a row.

As awesome an honor as that is, it's no surprise Kyle has been recognized for his academic excellence as well as for his accomplishments in the Hamilton Pop Warner League the last seven years.

Winner of the Burlington County Pop Warner Scholastic Achievement award and the Presidential Education Award for Outstanding Academic Excellence, Kyle has maintained a 98% grade point average while enrolled in enrichment classes at Mercerville School and now at Crockett. He has won the Mercerville School Award for Academic Excellence and is the Student Council Representative at Crockett.

Kyle, whose older brother Rob as an all-star tight end at Nottingham High the last two seasons, has already been named the 2012 Pop Warner Eastern Region Senior Scholar All-American. Not only has Kyle excelled on the gridiron, he has been a 5-year all-star in the Hamilton Little Lads Baseball League, has been a member of the Hamilton Bulls program as well as showing his varied athletic skills by playing in the Hamilton YMCA and Hamilton Little Lads Basketball league.

To relax Kyle says he enjoys ice skating and reading.

CONTRIBUTION TO YOUTH FOOTBALL JON BUTLER

Jon Butler has served as the Executive Director of Pop Warner Little Scholars (PWLS) for 20 years. Under Butler's leadership, Pop Warner's participation numbers have more than doubled, and the overall experience has improved thanks to programs and initiatives spearheaded by Butler.

In 1997, Pop Warner established an annual National Championship Week for Football and Cheer & Dance with 64 participating football teams and 400 cheer and dance squads. Butler also introduced Coaches Education Programs for volunteers to learn the basic rules of sportsmanship, coaching techniques and respect for youth. Seeing the need to involve athletes with special needs, he launched the Challenger Division Flag Football and Cheerleading Program to provide the Pop Warner experience to athletes of all abilities.

During his tenure, Butler has increased participation in the Academic All-American Program from 600 honorees in 1991 to almost 9,700 in 2011. In addition, he established the College Scholarship awards that currently give $110,000 in scholarships per year. In 2011, PWLS will have awarded nearly $900,000 in scholarships to student athletes.

Butler also supports a nationwide Simultaneous Kickoff on a scale unmatched by any other youth football organization. In 2010, he oversaw the creation of the Pop Warner Medical Advisory Board, which addresses issues concerning players' health and safety, including concussions, hydration and proper nutrition.

Prior to Pop Warner, Butler spent eight years as President of Rae Crowther Co., the leading manufacturer of football blocking sleds and field equipment. He also spent six years as a high school assistant football coach. In addition, he is a longtime member of the American Football Coaches Association.

After several years as a Director, Butler was elected Vice President of the National Council of Youth Sports in 1999. He also serves on the Advisory Board of the National Children's Literacy and Book Alliance, the Editorial Advisory Board of Sports Events Magazine, the Risk Management Committee and the Youth Game Sub-Committee of U.S. Lacrosse, the Board of Directors of USA Football and on the Board of Hopewell Valley Recreation Foundation.

This year, Butler was inducted as an honorary member to the American Football Coaches Association and in 2006, he was selected as the Hershey's S.T.R.I.V.E Awards' National Youth Sports Administrator of the Year.

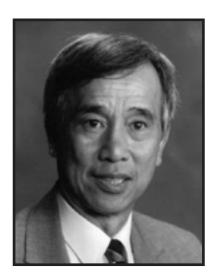

Butler lives in Pennington with his wife, Chris, and his son, Murf.

JACK MILLARD MEMORIAL FOOTBALL OFFICIAL AWARD GEORGE WAH

Few individuals have left a more massive imprint on the local sporting community than George Wah. A Trenton native and graduate of Trenton Central High School and Trenton State College (now The College of New Jersey), George devoted his entire life to physical education and athletics.

He spent three-plus decades as a physical and special education teacher in the Trenton School District and was ultimately appointed to Supervisor of Health and Physical Education for the last 10 years of his career before retiring in 1994.

George's knowledge of athletics was unparalleled as he coached every sport from baseball, basketball and football to soccer and swimming. After leading the 1962 Trenton All-Stars to the Babe Ruth World Championship as the team's manager, George garnered a spot in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Still, teaching and coaching told only a portion of George's story. He began officiating basketball in 1958 and gradually included swimming, baseball, football and track and field to his officiating résumé. George joined the New Jersey Football Officials Association in 1962 and officiated games through the 2011 season – his 50th season on the gridiron.

George was also a member of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football officials from 1967 to 1984, officiating well over 100 games at the Division I level during that time. In 1979 he garnered the Football Official of the Year Award as presented by the Delaware Valley Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, which was later named in honor of one of his closest friends, Jack Millard.

He was also a member of the New Jersey Track & Field Officials Association from 1979 through the 2011 spring season. In 2003 he was honored as the New Jersey Boys' Track/Field Official of the Year by the New Jersey Scholastic Coaches Association in cooperation with the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association.

George's association with the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame dates back to 1972. He chaired the annual Scholar-Leader-Athlete Awards Dinner for the last 35 years. He was also a member of the Trenton Select Committee for a number of years and was recognized with their Distinguished Service Award in 1996.

George passed away after a brief illness on December 13, 2011. He is survived by his wife, Sondra Choko Wah, his son Darren Wah, his daughter and son-in-law, Tracie and Bob Cummings, and his grandson, Owen. In addition, George was survived by his two brothers, three sisters, a brother-in-law, a sister-in-law and many nieces and nephews.

HANK JOHNS COACH OF THE YEAR DAN CARUSO, STEINERT

Dan Caruso's career with the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame has come full circle. A 1998 graduate of Burlington City High School, Caruso was the school's representative at the Scholar-Leader-Athlete dinner following his senior season.

While at Burlington City Dan earned three varsity letters and was a two-way lineman under head coach Tim Reardon. He earned 1st team All South Jersey, All Freedom Division, All Burlington County and All Burlington County Academic honors. He was the Brooks-Irvine Player of the Week and was selected to play in the Rotary Bowl All-Star game at Rowan University following his senior season.

After graduating from Burlington City, Dan matriculated at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa. Under the guidance of head coach Darwin Breaux, he flourished as an offensive lineman and long snapper, earning three varsity letters. He graduated from Dickinson with a Bachelor of Arts in History in 2002.

Following graduation from Dickinson, Caruso began his teaching and coaching career at Steinert. Hired by former Steinert head coach Frank Gatto – the 2000 Hank Johns

Coach of the Year recipient – as offensive line coach, Caruso spent four years coaching the front line before spending the next two years as defensive coordinator. In June of 2008 he was named as the eighth football coach in Steinert history. In his four years at the helm, he has led the Spartans to three straight NJSIAA Group III playoff appearances.

This past fall was one of unprecedented success for both Caruso and the Spartans. Steinert captured the first playoff win in school history against Wall Township and won again on the road the following week, this time outlasting Woodbridge in a shootout to advance to the Group III Central final against Neptune at Rutgers. While the Spartans ultimately fell short of capturing Mercer County's first state title by a public school in nearly 30 years, Caruso and the Spartans brought back a level of respectability for Mercer County football.

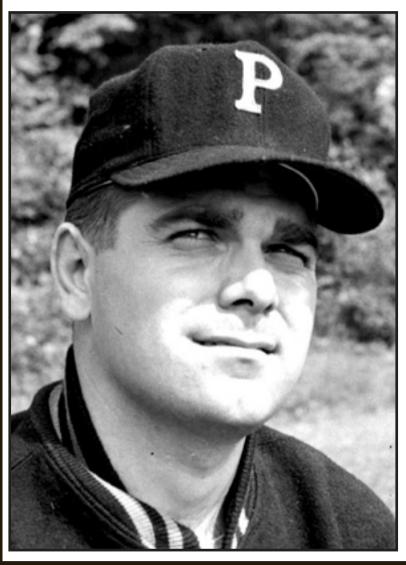

The nine wins tied a school record and for the Spartans' magical run he was named as Coach of the Year by both The Trentonian and The Times of Trenton. He was also named as the Coach of the Year by both papers following the 2009 season.

Bob Casciola '58 has been an integral part of Princeton football since his days as an All-Ivy tackle in 1957. He has served as both assistant coach (when he recruited future Hall of Famer Cosmo Iacavazzi), and head coach (1973-77).

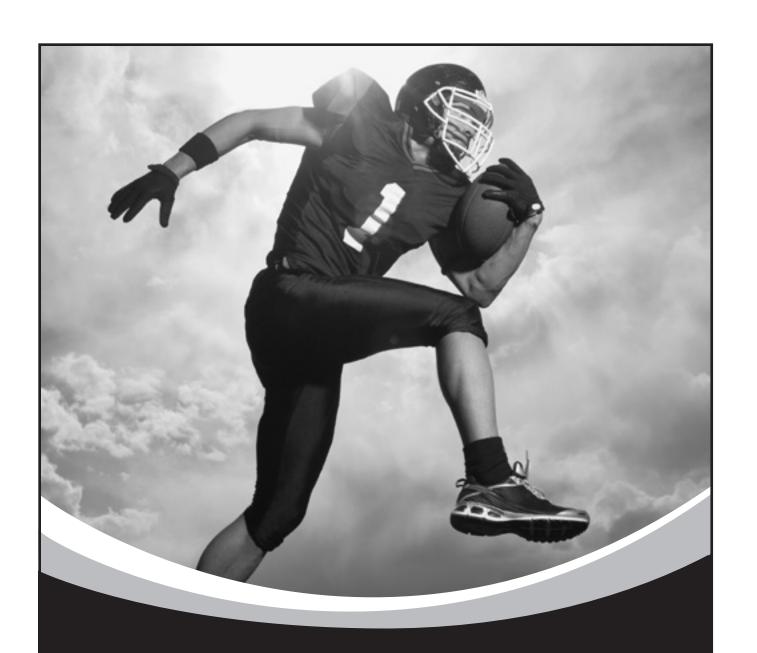

Coach Casciola later became President of the National Football Foundation, where he led the efforts to make the sport of college football better for everybody.

Coach Casciola is being honored for his efforts in getting the 50th going by leading the "Friends of the 50th" initiative in raising scholarship dollars and attendance. He continues to bring pride to both Princeton University and all of college football.

THANK YOU MR. WAH FROM YOUR 1962 BABE RUTH WORLD CHAMPIONS.

We make things bloom. New Jersey's future success depends on our ability to effectively manage the need for environmental protection with the need for a growing economy. At PSEG, we're committed to both. For three decades, we've been working to reduce the environmental impact of our own operations and working with others to achieve effective, innovative solutions to today's environmental issues. We're committed to reducing our carbon footprint through investments in renewable energy, efficient central power generation and energy efficiency measures. And, through investments in our customers and communities we're helping them reduce their carbon footprint as well. Balancing economic development and environmental protection is critical to creating a better, healthier world for our children. It's one way in which we're making things bloom in New Jersey.

We make things work for you.
